RAILROAD ACCIDENT-DEATH OF MR JOHN H Schwartz -- Yesterday, before his Honor, the Mayor Zenos Bramwerl, the engineer of the locomotive which, on Thursday afternoon last, ran over Mr. J. H. Schwartz, near the Lawrenceburg depot, crushing his legs and his body, whereby his death was caused in a few hours, was held to answer. It appeared in testimony that the loco metive was running backwards-that Mr. Bramat II o'clock A. M., to make arrangements for well was at his post in front, where his view was appointing delegates to the Congressional Con- intercepted by piles of wood, water tank, &c -that the speed was within the prescribed rate of four miles an hour-that Mr. Schwartz stepped on the track within five feet of the locomotive in motion, so near that possibly there was no time given to check it. In view of these facts, his Honor discharged Mr. Bramwell, remarking that the sad accident happened not from any carelessness or recklessness on the part of the engineer, but rather from a strange inadvertence or absence of mind on the part of the deceased.

STATUTES OF INDIANA.

GAVIS & HORD'S REVISION.

The second volume of Mesara, Gavin & Hord's compiletion of Indiana Statutes has just appeared. This volume complete their work. Its mechanical execution is very creditable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the editors have bestowed on it, ment the high at praise.

such a work. The second column embraces all the public statutes of indiana now in force upon the subjects to which it release, and the first all excepting the acts of the last regular and extra sessions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compilation that all existing statutes on each subject are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the legislation in some on any given subject. Take, for example, the act of 1852, organizing Courts of Common Pleas-the editors putilish the act at large, and they also print, in the form of notes on the same page containing this statute, dil the acts amendatory to it which have been passed up to this time. And so they have done of

The editors have added much to the value of these volumes-especially the last-by the copious and learned notes with which the volumes abound. These notes indicate much laber and legal acumen. They furnish us, in a concise and a curate form, with all the ad udications of our SupremerCourt on these statutes. These adjudications being now very numerous, the references to them in the volumes under c usideration, will be of great value. to the lawyer, and indeed to all persons concerned in the administra iongo justice. The editors have also referred, in their note-; to numerous decisions in other States, made on statutes similar to ours. An excellence of these volumes, not to be overlooked, is the full and accurate index appended to each. In Indiana, there never has been a good index to any volumes of statutes published by authority. This provoking defect has been completely remedied in the volumes under review; and these indexes will greatly lighten the labor of all who have occasion to look into our statutes. This is the lirst time that private outerprize has attempted the publication of Indiana statutes. The attempt, I do not doubt, will be successful, and will duly reward the learned editors and enterprizing publishers. Every lawyer will, of course, purchase these volumes; and every clerk, sheriff, and justice of the peace of the

DAVID M'DONALD. Indianapolis, June 5, 1862 The oregoing notice by Judge McDonald, of Gavin & Hoxp's Compliation of the Statutes of Indiana, is not designed as a puff of the work, but is an unsolicited commendation of the ability, accuracy, and completeness

The second volume, which has just been issued from the press, is being delivered to subscribers as rapidly as possible. This edition of the statutes will be found a necessity to every lawyer, ju-tices of the peace, and county officers in the State. The publication of the work is a private enterprize, and the publishers' only hope for remuneration is in its sale to those for whose convenience it was prepared. The two volumes contain about 1600
